THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM OF THE KINGDOM OF THE NETHERLANDS AS PER OCTOBER 10, 2010

Country Curacao, country St. Maarten and the BES islands

As announced in our Information Bulletin No. 1 of September 2, 2010, the Netherlands Antilles as a country within the Kingdom of the Netherlands has indeed ceased to exist on October 10, 2010.

On that same date, the country Curacao and the country St. Maarten came into existence under the new Charter of the Kingdom of the Netherlands, whereas the island territories of Bonaire, Saba and Statia on 10-10-2010 became overseas parts of the Netherlands, and, all 3 together, are now referred to as the "BES islands", or the Caribbean part of the Netherlands.
